Three Leading Candidates for the Democratic presidential nomination join in a multiple handshake of unity as they met Tuesday night, but each was wishing the teamwork was in behalf of his campaign. From the left are Sens. John Kennedy of Massachusetts, Lyndon Johnson of Texas and Stuart Symington of Missouri. They met at a $100-a-plate dinner at Beverly Hills in honor of another Democrat, Gov. Edmund Brown of California, who is expected to control his state's 81 votes at the convention.

Attachment of Two Districts Defeated

Triangle, Badger School Issues Draw Very Light Vote in City

Proposed attachments of Badger and Triangle school districts to Appleton for school purposes were rejected by both city and rural voters Tuesday in one of the lightest and, in terms of government expenses per vote cast, most expensive elections in the city's history.

The attachment of Badger district, No. 8, to the city was defeated by a 725-149 vote in Appleton and by 113-71 in the town of Grand Chute.

The attachment of Triangle district, No. 2, was defeated by a 710-142 vote in the city and by 41-15 in the town of Grand Chute.

Attachment of the two districts to Appleton had been ordered by the Outagamie and Calumet county school committees April 6. The referendum elections were called by petition of voters in Badger and Triangle districts.

The only precinct in which either of the attachment orders was approved by a ma-

Halleck in Line for Chairmanship of GOP National Convention

Washington — Republican house leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana is in line to be permanent chairman of the GOP national convention. It would be the second time Halleck has taken over a job long handled by veteran Rep. Joseph W. Martin of Massachusetts, who wielded the gavel through two decades of Republican conventions.

GOP national Chairman Thruston B. Morton said yesterday he will recommend that Halleck be chosen as permanent chairman. He called a meeting of the Republican national committee and the arrangements committee of the convention to meet here June 8-11 to make final plans.

Crisis Deepening Over U.S.-Japanese Treaty

104 Liberals Bolt Party Formed by Former Korea Boss

Hope to Escape Responsibility for Corruption, Rigging, Brutality

Seoul, South Korea — How much of the money involved came from U. S. aid funds or whether any of the firms were aid-subsidized. The new Korean government has promised to weed political influences out of the U. S. aid program.

With the collapse of the liberals, the democrats, headed by former Vice President John M. Chang, became the biggest party in the assembly with a total of 70 seats. A total of 114 members in the assembly are now independents.

Some of the 34 remaining liberals also are expected to join the independent ranks to escape the liberal stigma in hope of being reelected.

SEATO Talks Go on Today

Foreign Ministers Hold Post Mortem On Summit Collapse

Washington — A western big three strategy meeting was arranged for late today following the second, secret session of the Southeast Asia Treaty organization.

The Seoul prosecutor's office reported today that 56 big Korean companies contributed a total of $91 million dollars to the campaign fund ex-President Rhee's liberal party amassed for the March 15 presidential election.

The announcement said the money was contributed as outright gifts or in return for promised loans from the government.

The prosecutor's office said in most cases the firms were given loans, then contributed 10 to 100 per cent of the amount to the party. It could not be determined immediately.

367 Final Count Of Holiday Dead

Chicago — A final tally shows that 367 persons were killed in traffic accidents over the 3-day Memorial day holiday.

The record for a 3-day Memorial day period is 371, set in 1958. The fatalities also fell short of a pre-holiday estimate of 375 made by the National Safety Council.

However, the over-all toll of 579 deaths, including traffic and those resulting from boating, drowning and miscellaneous accidents far surpassed the previous 3-day Memorial weekend record of 504 set in 1947.

Draheim Says Nelson 'Using' Fatal Epidemic

Sounding Board for False Political Claims, He Asserts

Madison — State Sen. William A. Draheim, R-Neenah, accused the administration Tuesday of using the dysentery epidemic that killed 80 patients at the Southern Colony and Training school as a sounding board for false and misleading partisan political claims.

Draheim's statement followed a press conference held by Gov. Gaylord Nelson at which he criticized Draheim and other Republicans in the senate for opposing his building program.

"The governor's weak arguments about the state building program are not valid in this case, since hospital facilities could not have been built in time to be used during this epidemic, even if they had been started before he took office," Draheim said.

"On the other hand, Nelson's lack of leadership and callous indifference in this crisis raise a serious question of doubt to his fitness to hold the state's highest office," he added.

Officials of the colony said the 80 deaths occurred over a 2-year span because of shigella dysentery, a disease physicians said was difficult to control because it spread rapidly and easily from patient to patient.

Wilbur Schmidt, the director of the public welfare department, said no emergency exists at the colony at present and that only two or three patients are now in the hospital.

Some political reporters predicted the socialist move would be a defeat.

Emotional Effect Party Chairman Inejiro Asanuma and his aides banked on the emotional effect upon the people to force the premier's hand.

But some members of the socialist party itself called the move suicidal. The newspaper Yomiuri warned it might speed up a government change, but also would "hurt parliamentary policies even more."

All Kishi had to do to ride out the storm was to sit tight and refuse to either resign or dissolve the house. Members of his liberal democratic party affirmed they will stand by him until the security treaty ratification is completed.

Socialists Gambling on Mass Exodus to Force Hand of Prime Minister

Tokyo — The socialist party began gathering resignations of its members from the house of representatives today in a gamble to deepen the crisis over the new U. S.-Japan security pact and force Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi into retirement.

Party leaders expected to stage a wholesale exodus of socialists from parliament sometime after a nationwide one-hour general strike called for June 4 by the 34-million member labor federation, with which the party is closely affiliated.

The strike and mass resignation, to be accompanied by another series of street demonstrations, are intended to put pressure on Kishi to either resign or dissolve the house and call new elections.

Dissolution would mean nullification of the lower house ratification of the security pact, which the socialists and their allies have vowed to defeat.

Turks May Try Fallen Leaders

Evidence of Any Misdeeds Would Bar Them From Office

Ankara, Turkey — Turkey's acting president, Lt. Gen. Cemal Gursel, says ousted Premier Adnan Menderes and his ministers will stand trial and will be barred from political activity if an investigation already under way shows evidence of misdeeds in office.

But if they are found blameless, they will be free to run in the elections Gursel has promised to hold, the military leader installed by last week's coup against Menderes' 10-year rule told a news conference last night.

Gursel left no doubt of the military revolution's feelings about the former government.

"These people were guilty in our belief," he declared. Menderes, President Celal Bayar and more than 100 of their associates are being held at the war college in Ankara or on an island in the sea of Marmara.

Gursel claimed that some of those under arrest, including Menderes, approved of the new provisional government.

"There have been some messages of approval from the war college," he said. "Even the former premier said he had approved of the policies followed by himself and my colleagues," he said.

The white-haired general said emphatically he himself would not be a candidate in the elections.

Abortion Ring Witness Found Dead in River

Muskegon, Mich. — Police bore down today on the investigation of death of a young woman described as a key witness in the probe of an alleged abortion ring.

Her body, bound hand and foot, was found in the Muskegon river Friday. An autopsy showed the woman had died of skull fractures and had been in the river at least two weeks.

Prosecutor Harry J. Knudsen said she was found in a Whitehall, Mich., motel with Carl Sales, 61, of Flint, Mich., when the man was arrested April 20 on a charge of performing an abortion.

De Gaulle Wants Methodic Work to Pave Summit Way

Feels Reasonable Preparation by 4 Powers Can Bring Agreement

Paris — (U) — President Charles de Gaulle said Tuesday night there should be no more summit conferences until the way to agreement is paved by "methodic diplomatic work."

After reasonable preparation by all four powers, De Gaulle said in a TV-radio report to the French nation, France would be ready to play host again to a top level meeting.

Expense Bills Tampered With

Knight Reporters Make Claims of House Members

Washington — (U) — Dozens of expense account bills of house members have been altered or amended in recent years, the Knight newspapers said today.

In a copyrighted dispatch, reporters Don Obendorfer and Walter Pincus said house records show that "congressmen spent tax dollars on trips to resort areas, on night clubbing and tipping aboard luxury liners."

The receipts supporting the expense account claims then were altered in some instances, the story said, to show different purposes for the expenditures.

Few Involved
It said "expense accounts of only a few members of the house are involved in the unusual expense bills. In those checked while the records were still public, alterations or amendments appeared on hotel bills of more than 20 percent or former congressmen."

The story said the records in the house disbursing office "had long been public documents open to public inspection." But it added:

"House officials threw a secrecy cloak around the (records) after learning of press interest a few days ago. The door to the fun record room was locked and all access to the public sealed off."

Investigating Units
The story said the practices "are concentrated in the expense accounts of house investigating committees — the very groups which have been busy scrutinizing everybody else. But nobody investigates the investigators."

They are entitled to a standard $12 a day per diem allowance and are not required to submit bills or receipts for this kind of payment when traveling on committee business. Expenses above that amount requires bills and receipts to be submitted.

Police Doubt Youth Was Kidnap Victim
Chicago — (U) — Police expressed doubt today that Nick Marks, 16, missing since Sunday, was a kidnapping victim.

His father, Ephraim, told police he received two telephone calls, each caller demanding $5,000 ransom. The caller, Marks said, named two hotels as sites for the payoff. Police checked both hotels and said they found nothing suspicious.

Capt. Phillip Breitke, commander of the south Chicago police district said he thought the boy might be afraid to return home because he had taken the family truck without permission. Breitke, identifying the Marks as Gypsies, said he thought other members of the clan could have taken Nick away from the family.

Digestion of Food Begins in Mouth
It is important to chew your food well. By so doing food is broken up into smaller particles, making it easier for the digestive fluids to work on them.

The saliva contains a digestive fluid called ptyalin that aids in the digestion of starchy foods such as potatoes, macaroni, white bread, cereals, corn and rice. Because these foods are usually eaten in soft forms, they are swallowed without thorough mastication.

Changing your eating habits will eliminate many cases of faulty digestion; but if nerve irritation is causing an upset in the secretion of digestive fluids, so that foods are not digested properly, then chiropractic adjustments may help.

Western Union, CTU Agree on New Contract

Possibility of Strike Averted as Workers Will Get Two Pay Increases

Washington — (U) — Western Union reached a contract with the Communications Workers of America (CTU) which the union estimated would amount to an average increase of three cents an hour; and more liberal vacation provisions.

The CTU bargaining committee had been given authority to call a strike any time after the old contract expired. The CTU represents 30,000 Western Union employees. The firm's New York employees are not included.

Originally, the CTU had asked for an increase of 25 cents an hour. The company offered a 5 cent raise this year with another 5 cents next year.

The final negotiating session, which began Tuesday, did not end until the early hours of today.

Hageman said the new contract would give most Western Union employees a 10 cent an hour wage increase effective June 1 and another 5 cent increase next Jan. 1.

Walking and bicycle messengers were excepted. They would receive an increase of 5 cents an hour effective June 1 but no further increase next year.

Hageman said new contract provisions also included: A new hospitalization plan paid for by the firm; an expansion of the group insurance plan.

Two Monitors Take Fight Before Judge

W. E. Bufalino Snatches Letters From Staff Member

Washington — (U) — Two feuding members of the Teamsters union board of monitors have carried their quarrel before the federal court judge who appointed them.

William E. Bufalino, the union's representative on the board, snatched from a board aide a sheaf of letters which he later left at the office of Federal District Judge F. Dickinson Letts.

Board Chairman Martin F. O'Donoghue formally complained to Judge Letts that Bufalino and Teamster President James R. Hoffa have tried to threaten and intimidate members of the monitor staff.

Their actions, he said, "reveal clearly a plan to use monitor Bufalino not in the proper performance of his duties as an officer of this court, but as a tool for creating dissension and controversy in order to hamstring the board."

The 3-man board was named by Judge Letts to oversee a cleanup of the big union.

Bufalino took direct action after demanding unsuccessfully that he be allowed to see the letters. During a pushing-and-shuffling scuffle, he and crewmen represented by Joseph W. Lang, Jr., a staff member.

He later called a news conference and displayed a bandaged hand, which he said was scratched in his struggle with Lang.

Indians Seek Postponement To End of Federal Control

Menominee Delegation Reports Tribe Will Not be Ready by Dec. 31

Washington — (U) — A delegation from the Menominee Indian tribe of Wisconsin today supported legislation to postpone termination of federal control over the Indians now set for Dec. 31, 1960.

"We know we cannot make it Dec. 31," Jerome Grignon, chairman of the delegation, told a house interior subcommittee.

Grignon said it is essential that finances be built up so the tribe can meet all responsibilities when federal control over the reservation ends.

Members of Tribe
He was accompanied by three other members of the tribe, Al Dodge, Mrs. Irene Maik and Francis Leon.

The four endorsed bills by Rep. Melvin R. Laird (R-Wis.).

In addition to postponing termination to a date to be set by the secretary of the interior, they would 1. provide for full reimbursement of all termination costs instead of partial as now specified, 2. provide the Indians would not have to pay the stamp taxes, estimated at about $75,000, and 3. authorize federal loans to assist the Indians in conduct of tribal affairs.

Chairman James A. Haley (D-Fla.) told Laird, the lead-off witness, that the committee probably would consider only the measure to postpone the termination date. The other bills could be considered next year, Haley said. Laird, however, asked that the committee take action on all four bills.

John Bowers, Wisconsin assistant attorney general, presented a letter from Atty. Gen. John W. Reynolds saying that the state takes no position on the bill to postpone the termination date. Reynolds, however, said the state favors the other three bills by Laird.

H. Rex Lee, assistant commissioner of the Indian bureau, said the interior department has no objection to postponement of the termination date for a reasonable time. He added, however, that if postponement is agreed upon it should not be later than July 1, 1961.

But defiant states righters had a tenacious grip on the remaining six, and threatened to withhold them from the national party if it nominates a presidential candidate distasteful to the south.

Unaccounted returns from Tuesday's Democratic runoff primary held the final answer. Many of them were in the heavy-voting loyalist stronghold of north Alabama, but several states rights counties also were unreported.

Returns Incomplete
With 10 seats on the electoral college at stake, incomplete returns showed five states' righters and five loyalists leading the field for Democratic nomination.

The 11th place was filled in the first primary May 3. States righter Bruce Henderson of Alabama, was nominated without a runoff.

The states righters were sworn to withhold their votes from the national party nominee if he is repugnant to the "peculiar racial problems of the south."

They said that rather than vote for a hostile candidate, they would favor giving their support to another Democrat sympathetic to southern traditions.

Loyalists, on the other hand, promised to support the national party. Refusing to accept segregation as the real issue, they argued that a division in party ranks could serve only to benefit the Republicans in the presidential election.

Meanwhile, returns in the election of Democratic convention delegates showed candidates favorable to Sens. Lyndon Johnson of Texas and Richard B. Russell of Georgia among the leaders.

Rockefeller Praises Ike

New York Chief Speaks Off Cuff To Overflow Crowd

New York — (U) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller said Tuesday night that Americans can be proud of President Eisenhower for his conduct at the summit conference wrecked by Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Rockefeller spoke off the cuff before an overflow crowd of more than 800 members of the New York county (Manhattan) Republican committee.

Although the governor made no reference to his own political future, each time other speakers linked his name with the presidency or the vice presidency there was enthusiastic applause and cheers from the audience.

The governor just smiled. Rockefeller said Eisenhower has labored for peace, freedom and equal opportunity. He said he thinks the world recognizes the "sincerity, integrity and dedication of this great president."

The governor said that at the summit "the leader of another great power made a mockery" of the meeting and, despite insults and aspersions, Eisenhower showed "the same courage and calm dignity which he showed on D-day and we can be proud of him as an American and as our president."

Rockefeller said the summit collapse shows "what we're up against — what we have to be ready for."

Mop-Up Work Starts on Fire
Gagnon, Que. — (U) — Some 2,000 fire fighters began mop-up operations today to wipe out forest fires that, since Sunday, have threatened this mining town 550 miles north-east of Montreal.

Pumps and equipment were airlifted into Gagnon to help the fire teams, whose job has been eased by drenching rains.

In Montreal, a spokesman for the Quebec Cartier Mining company said the 353 women and children airlifted there from Gagnon Monday will not be returned until the blaze is completely under control.

Gagnon is the center of a $200 million iron ore development by Quebec Cartier, a subsidiary of the U.S. Steel corporation.

Progress Despite the Fog

The parties are busily dancing their political jigs around the question of basic tax revision which has been the heart of Wisconsin political debate for the last two years.

To the private citizen accustomed to lucid expression and simple declarations of view, there may be some disappointment about the murky character of the soft-shoe style talk among the parties and their leaders.

Yet we believe we can see some progress forward through the fog of equivocation and generalization that abounds, however slow and uncertain it may be.

It is reasonable to suppose that if Gov. Nelson had not virtually copyrighted the "tax revision" idea during the last year, the Republican state convention at Milwaukee recently might not have been emboldened to state so willingly that it backs up the principles already embodied in the progress report of the governor's tax advisory commission. Those principles, while they fall short of writing a prescription thus far, make a convincing case not only for the cause of tax revision, but also must mean in any intelligent reading that it wants some form of sales taxation to flesh out the income and property tax revenue pattern so long relied upon here.

Conversely, although Gov. Nelson has not yet directly endorsed those principles, the Republican position probably means that he cannot afford to repudiate them, either.

It was his press agent who conceived the phrase "blue ribbon" commission. The men on the commission for the most part were chosen by the governor himself. He is virtually required by the logic of his position to back up what they find, including their fundamental conclusions that the tax base of Wisconsin must be broadened, that property taxes cannot be permitted to rise higher, on the whole, and that the Wisconsin fiscal system within a federal union cannot be permitted safely to differ substantially, in appearance or reality, from those of competing states.

The political campaigns of the parties in the state this year are likely to become exercises in semantics. The politicians as always will hesitate to say what is really on their minds. Some of their constituents may become impatient with the bush-beating.

But there is some encouragement in the fact that they are moving closer together on this fundamental challenge in the state. There is reason to believe that their delicate counter-punching suggests a tacit agreement that the 1961 legislature will be the year of decision. While we would have welcomed an earlier showdown and a more candid discussion of the question for purposes of electoral enlightenment this year, we have watched convolutions and involutions of the body politic too long to be unwilling to be grateful for even a little forward movement.

Revolt in Turkey

The army coup in Turkey is something that practically everyone could see coming except Premier Menderes.

In the last few weeks, the protests against the stringent controls applied have increased. Students had been the most vocal opposition, but there were underlying indications that they didn't stand alone. The army had been noticeably gentle in quelling the rioters. Last week military cadets, who expect to be army officers by next year, joined 6,000 student marchers in protest. Newspapers had been under press censorship for years but, with the outbreaks, the controls became tighter. Finally Menderes ordered all colleges and universities in Istanbul closed until fall.

Menderes failed to realize that a people, once accustomed to the opportunities and civil liberties of democratic government do not easily accept the yoke of despotic government however benevolent it may appear. The official news brochure sent out in this country echoed the Menderes charge that only those who opposed free and honest elections were causing the trouble. But while he spoke of free elections, he muffled the opposition. Free and honest campaigns also are essential for election day if it is to be anything except a mockery.

The army coup is no assurance of a return to more democratic ways by the government. Military leaders often are suspected of showing an inability to understand the drives for democratic institutions which motivate people. But the bloodless revolution, in great contrast to that of Kassem in Iraq, is one indication of an aim to restore rights rather than take them away. Now if the elections come about and the military power is released to the winner, as the leaders insist will occur, Turkey will have been the better for the whole episode.

Majority Decision

There has been agitation for some time in Puerto Rico by individuals and groups who favor either independence or statehood for the island. Now Gov. Luis Munoz Marin has put the problem directly up to the legislature, but it turns out the loudest demanders to end the commonwealth status with the United States aren't so eager to put things to a vote.

The reason is clear from a glance at the 1956 election results. The Popular Democrat party, which favors the status quo, polled about three times as many votes as the statehood group and better than five times as many as the independent aspirants. The majority of people agree with Gov. Marin that the commonwealth situation at the present is the "only one under which improvements in the lives of our people can continue."

So now that Gov. Marin has sponsored a bill before the legislature which would authorize a plebiscite if petitions for any of the three points of view can garner 10 per cent of the electorate, there is backing and filling. The leader of the statehood party says the decision for territorial or commonwealth status shouldn't be on the ballot at all because that isn't a "final solution." The independents are simply opposed to any plebiscite with the noble sounding "patriotism is never open to discussion" phrase used as the principal defense.

Puerto Rico is plagued with serious economic problems but the living conditions of the people gradually have been improving particularly in the last few years with the development of more industry owned by Americans. It is doubtful that things could be bettered by either statehood or independence at the present time and the people of Puerto Rico seem to know it.

Doctors on Strike!

Physicians and dentists in France were called out on strike by their unions recently to protest government action limiting their fees under a new social security law. They claimed the law violated their independence.

In this country in recent months medical men have been making themselves heard in opposition to the Forand Bill. This is one of a number of plans for providing government assistance to the aged in health care. Doctors generally oppose the bill because they believe it will bring about too much government control over the practice of medicine.

Sometimes there is resentment against our medical and dental societies expressing themselves publicly on political matters. They of course have every right to do so and it may well be argued that they have a duty to state their views.

In comparison with the French situation, our American system has many merits. Not only are there no unions of physicians or dentists and no mass protest strikes, doctors in America are as independent in their relations to each other as they are of government control. And we should keep it that way.

Undaunted Harold Stassen

Somebody sometime should prepare a special award for Harold Stassen for simply bouncing back. We've wondered what had become of him since he lost his last bid for public office. It seems he has been considering the national problem and has come up with a dilly. According to Mr. Stassen, Richard Nixon can't possibly win the election if he is the Republican candidate for president this year. In fact, he can carry only five states.

Mr. Stassen has four other men to suggest to the eager Republicans. They are Gov. Nelson Rockefeller who was so discouraged by the lack of enthusiasm for him around the nation that he withdrew his name although he does admit he could be drafted; U. N. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, an able man who lost his senate seat to none other than John Kennedy; Sec. of the Treasury Robert Anderson and Sec. of the Interior Fred Seaton. For some reason Mr. Stassen doesn't mention Christian Herter, his suggested replacement for Mr. Nixon four years ago, despite Mr. Herter's better known position today as secretary of state.

It is unlikely that the Republicans will pay too much attention to Mr. Stassen. They may recall that among his wrong observations was his insistence that Mr. Nixon's name on the 1956 ballot would doom the Republicans to defeat.

Feels People Want a Jones Park Rather Than Jones Parking Lot

Editor, Post-Crescent:

Your May 20th, article on the future plans for Jones park is vague in intent. If your writer will refer to the recent annual chamber of commerce report, he will find that the number one accomplishment of the chamber was the acquisition of the Jones park deed, freed of the recreational clause. Thereby setting this park up for one purpose, automobile parking. We are all fully aware that there is a dire need for car parking — and also we all know there are more children in our growing city. I believe most of our citizens deem it greater importance that our children retain their right to this playground; rather than that the automobile take this right away.

Jones park is used for more than the one purpose "skating" stated in your article. For decades children have sleighed, played hockey, baseball, softball and other games there. Certainly this park is "mosquito ridden" in summer; because of very obvious and deliberate neglect. Alderman Groh is right that other parks get the funds. Your article should further clarify Mr. Groh's charges of "wheeling and dealing." He is the alderman of this ward; yet he was neither informed nor consulted about changing the Jones park status until the quit claim deeds were signed.

Children in all areas of our fine city should be given as equal as possible recreational facilities. Let the chamber of commerce lead the way to ramp our many present municipal parking lots, and at the same time, show their good intent by campaigning for a well kept Jones park — as a right and tribute to our children.

Says Tourists Going to Russia are Insulting Ike

Editor, Post-Crescent:

At no time in the history of America has our President of the United States been so insulted as he has been by Khrushchev. We, the people of the United States, should not remain silent and let Khrushchev think he has gotten by with this. He really is in fact bursting with insults from weakness rather than from strength. Under the Capitol Dome
Special Interests Still Seek Tax Exemptions

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison — The pervading concern about the cost of taxation in modern business life is nowhere better shown than in the persistent pressures for special interest tax exemptions.

The cynicism or thoughtlessness of legislative politics on the matter is nowhere better illustrated than in the repeated success of such special interest lobbies.

The typical tax exemption or tax preference demand might be framed something like this, if the legislative counsel retained by such groups spoke out with complete candor:

"We know that taxes aren't going to be reduced in general. We're pretty sure, in fact, that taxes are going to become even heavier and more painful. So we want to get a special exemption for ourselves, and let the rest of the community worry about the consequences."

Such candor is not usually provided, of course. The arguments are always dressed out in fancy words and at length. Legislators pretend to be convinced of the logic of the cause, when in reality they are driven by their fear of the vote-potential of the pressure groups.

food, their time table on industry is lagging severely, and his people are becoming restless and will not push the program because he has led to them so many times.

This plane incident — U-2 — had nothing to do with his plans to torpedo the Summit Conference. If you, the people, remember, President Eisenhower made his trip throughout the East and Europe and had such a tumultuous welcome by all the people in all the countries that he visited. Then Mr. Khrushchev thought, perhaps, he might get even a bigger welcome, so he made the same trip but he was not welcomed as much as an ordinary top government officer. This seemed to have made him extremely mad and in words and actions he has been taking it out on President Eisenhower, the United States and even the N. A. T. O. countries. Anyone that followed this closely knew that he intended to torpedo the conference.

Now he has withdrawn his invitation to President Eisenhower to visit Russia. but he stated he wanted all other Americans to come on and that he would just be glad to have them. Any American that makes a trip to Russia since this insult to America should stay in Russia and not make America his home anymore. The least we all can do is to cancel our plans to go to Russia, or have anything to do with a man that has insulted our President. Will you, the American people who plan to go to Russia, cancel your trips and plan to go elsewhere? Or will you go to Russia and show your contempt for our president and for our country and show your love for Khrushchev and Russia? Khrushchev only wants your dollars so that he can use them to get American gold and cause your dollar to lose value.

Two pertinent examples of the trend turned up in the legislative grist last week. Gov. Nelson had vetoed a bill to grant a personal property tax exemption for cheese in storage for curing, and a corporate income tax exemption for corporations with 10 stockholders or less.

The governor's arguments were irrefutable, from the viewpoint of the taxpayer on the sidelines who has no hope of special treatment by the legislature.

The arguments of the backers of the bill were shallow, facetious, virtually begging the question. In both cases they relied upon the tested habit of the legislature of responding to sloganeering combined with astutely applied political pressure.

They reminded the listener of the celebrated satirist who opined that some people are more equal than others.

Yet both of these exemptions would have become law, if the governor, perhaps pressed by the exigencies of his own situation, perhaps responsible to his conscience, had not used the considerable propaganda resources of his office and his own prestige as a party leader.

From the viewpoint of the cheese consumer, there is no more reason to excuse that product from the levies of the property tax assessor than canned cherry juice, or horse saddles, or typewriters in a news office.

There is even less reason to suppose that a corporation that has 10 stockholders or less is necessarily a "small business", or that a "small business" is any less eligible for the exactions of the graduated income tax than any other kind of business.

Looking Backward
Lincoln Called 'Some Candidate'

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for the week of June 2, 1860.

The nomination of Lincoln shows that the Republicans dare not risk a representative man of their own principles. Seward, the great originator and expounder of Republicanism, is cast aside in the house of his own friends.

Sincere Republicans enquire why their great leader has been thus cast aside for one who has so often repudiated the leading principles of their party.

We have Mr. Lincoln's own authority for it in his speech at Freeport that he does not know whether he stands on the Republican platform or not. Here is what he said in that speech in alluding to the interrogatories of Judge Douglas:

"I shall answer — I go beyond the scope of what is within any of the platforms

I allude to, and in doing so, I do not know really whether I stand in accordance with the Republican party or not!"

Great Philosopher! — great Statesman! — great Republican candidate! — who can't tell whether he stands on the Republican platform or not.

25 YEARS AGO

Wednesday, May 29, 1935

A bill approved by the state industrial commission to start the payment of benefits under the Wisconsin unemployment insurance law on Jan. 1, 1936, instead of July 1, 1935, was introduced in the legislature that day.

Hugh S. Johnson, the first administrator of NRA, returned to the circle of presidential advisors and went to work drafting a tentative plan to continue the regulation of industry under codes of fair practices.

Appleton Highland Memorial park and Wisconsin's first singing tower were to be dedicated at two services at the park Thursday afternoon and evening.

Dale Andrew, Kaukauna, was reelected secretary and treasurer of the Wisconsin Petroleum association.

Mrs. Joseph Koffend was elected president of Woman's association of First Congregational church. Mrs. G. E. Buchanan was chosen first vice president.

the "crusade year" campaign of the Valley Scout council were announced by Robert F. Bauer, scout executive. Assisting Ronald Evans, general chairman, was to be Bauer, Don Kuehneman, field executive, Walter H. Swanson, council president, John Bloomer, camping chairman of the Appleton district, and Ted Hegard, assistant chairman of the Appleton district.

Mrs. Joseph E. Haag was elected delegate to the state convention of the auxiliary to the National Federation of Post Office clerks when the Appleton auxiliary met at the home of Mrs. Clyde Hanson, Kimberly.

H. R. Mossholder, Appleton, was to attend the national convention of the Holstein-Friesian Association of America at Syracuse, N. Y., on June 5, 6 and 7.

Potomac Fever — by Fletcher Knebel

Republicans ignored history's great moral lesson in handling the U-2 incident: All of George Washington's troubles at Valley Forge stemmed from the day he admitted he chopped down that darned cherry tree.

Jack Kennedy wins Oregon. He's kind of glad the primaries are over — or people would start calling him the rich man's Kefauver.

Khrushchev returns to Moscow. He boasts they never laid a glove on him in Paris and what's more, they never will as long as he has the strength to walk out of the ring before the first bell.

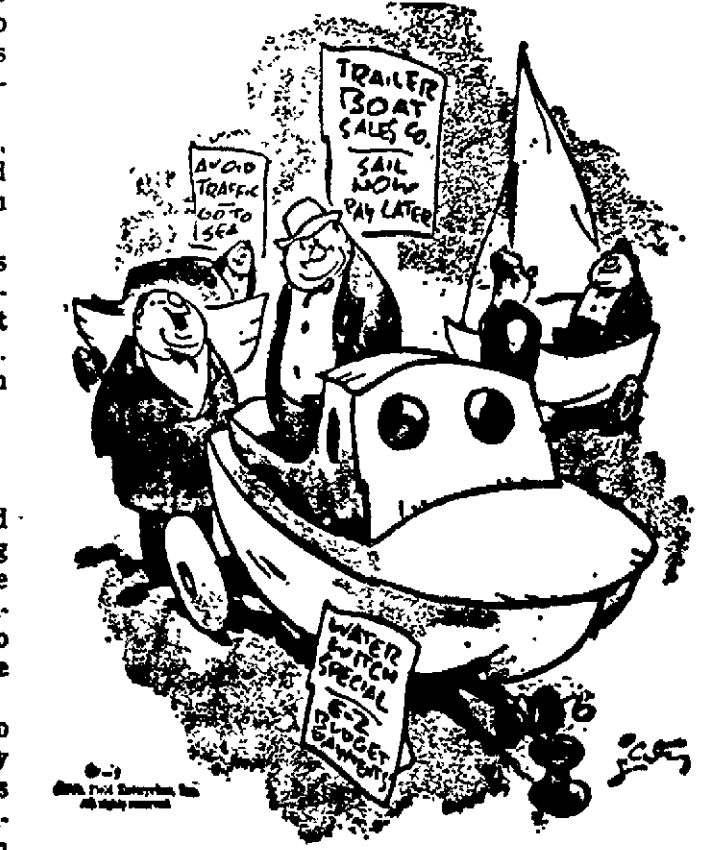

Religion is still an issue in the Democratic race. Big fight looming on whether they'll pick a southern Baptist or a Yankee Congregationalist to run with Jack Kennedy.

Airline schedule: A monument to the greatest of human virtues — faith, hope and charity.

Since he walloped Wayne Morse in Maryland and Oregon, Democrats are hailing Kennedy as "Jack, The Midget Killer."

Q — Isn't either Kennedy or Nixon too young to deal with Khrushchev? A — Absolutely. The Khrushchev Wrecking and Dumping company refuses to tear up contracts with anyone under 60.

South African Race Problem

Black Men Ready to Fight for Freedom; Revolution on Way

BY SAUL PETT

Johannesburg, South Africa — How angry, how restless are the natives of South Africa under the white man's rule?

No public opinion polls cover this part of the world but there are some clues.

A black man working on a railroad or in a construction gang raises his sledgehammer, brings it down hard and, with deep fury, chants in Zulu:

"Abelingo God damn bastards!"

Translation: "The whites, God damn them, they call us bastards."

Or Charlie or Henry or boy or any name the white man chooses except the right one. "We are ready to fight if guns ever come down from the north," a young native student told me.

"There is no doubt; some Black men have no voice in South African affairs despite their vastly superior numbers. But native leaders feel their day will come — and when it does, some say, it may be with a terrifying explosion. This is the second of three articles on South Africa today.

day we will have a revolution," said a native teacher. "And the worst part of the tragedy," said a young native writer, "is that when it comes we will be blind. We will have to shoot the whites we like and flect, the black man's bitter sense of irony. "The Falling Leaves" for a sun-baked place miles from a tree. "The V. Club," for a victory nowhere in sight. "The 400 Club," whose habitues are anything but rich or exclusive.

Like the others, the shebeen I visited had a hepcat flavor. Cool jazz came from a record player in the corner. The Africans assembled wore western clothes and some had the little bears symbolic of jazz fiends everywhere.

But jazz wasn't on their minds tonight. In perfect English, they told an American reporter of their troubles and hopes.

"With the arrogance of the present government, which we can't even consult," said the writer, "there ultimately can be no other way but revolution. We won't settle for anything less than full equal rights."

No One to Lead

"But remember, chaps," said the teacher, "only about three-eighths of our people know what's going on. The rest know nothing. With all our leaders in jail, there is no one to educate or lead them."

"Yes, but an underground is forming," said another man. "We will have a new organization and the day after the state of emergency is lifted, there will be more Sharpe-

A fat little man, who had been drinking quietly, suddenly grabbed my lapels as though he could keep silent no longer.

Mountain Driving Nice But Dangerous

Can be Boobytrapped For Motorists Used To Straight Roads

A highway climbing through picturesque countryside toward a snow-capped peak can lull a driver into disaster, the National Safety Council pointed out today.

"It's a beautiful setting, all right," said the council. "But it can be a boobytrap to the driver who's accustomed to ribbon-straight roads.

"That climbing, winding road," it said, "may quit climbing and start descending right around the next curve. Be prepared for such a change."

Downgrade Speeding

A frequent cause of mountain motor mishaps, said the council, a nongovernmental organization concerned with the prevention of all types of accidents, is speeding on a downgrade.

"Braking too hard while entering a downhill curve too fast can throw a car into an uncontrollable skid," it warned. "Or a driver may panic

AWFUL "ACID-GAS" AFTER EATING Now Fixed With Fastest Kind of Relief

Those who suffer severe acid-gas indigestion after eating should take this real 3-way medicine—Pfunder's Tablets—for blessed relief. Not a "fizz"—not a candy-like tablet—this real 3-way medicine combines:

1. Immediate neutralizing—the FASTEST way known to medicine.
2. Special ANTI-GAS ingredients for positive action.
3. A widely prescribed ADSORBENT ANTACID—to adsorb excess acid as it continues to form.

his speed quickens and swerve into the path of an oncoming car," it said.

The council has these tips on how to avoid braking problems on a downgrade:

1. Apply the brakes intermittently. Constant application of brakes builds heat which wears out brake bands and can cause hydraulic fluid to boil.
2. Shift to a lower gear before starting down, whether your car has standard or automatic transmission.

Other common causes of mountain accidents, said the council, are driving on the wrong side of the road or too near the center, and passing other vehicles.

Shun Road Edge
"Perhaps," it observed, "it's a natural fear of driving off the cliff that causes the inexperienced mountain driver to shun the edge and stray into the wrong lane.

"And since visibility on winding mountain roads is often limited, passing other cars is risky. If you drive in the mountains and the car behind you starts to pass, slow down and let him pass quickly, thus avoiding the risk of a pileup—which could involve you."

Other council hints on mountain driving:

1. Before leaving on your trip, have your car brakes adjusted, the cooling system checked and cleaned and the spare tire okayed.
2. Don't drink—good advice no matter where you drive, but especially important in the mountains, where the intoxicating effect of alcohol is increased by the thin air.
3. Don't stop on the roadway to look at scenery. Pull off the road or use an observation parking area.
4. Vapor lock—a result of high engine heat causing gasoline in fuel lines and fuel pump to vaporize—can be corrected only by waiting until the gasoline cools. You can speed the process by wrapping a cloth soaked in cold water around the pump.
5. Try to be prepared and equipped for all sorts of weather and any type of trouble. Unexpected snowfall occurs in the mountains in early spring or late fall. Fog is common and requires that you use utmost caution. If possible, carry a spare fan belt, a container in which to dip water from a stream, an auto electrical fuse, a first-aid kit and an emergency kit with a trouble light.
6. Pay close attention to road signs while driving in strange and dangerous mountain areas.
7. Plan each day's trip so you can stop well before dark.

The pair was arrested when an Appleton patrolman saw Rupiper drinking beer as the youths drove in downtown Appleton May 20. Both pleaded no contest.

The native lawyer with the seat suit, brief case and rolled umbrella (the status symbols of his white conqueror) must ride with the primitive woman carrying a sack of potatoes or wash on her head, her wrists and ankles covered in bracelets. The doctor rides with the medicine man who prescribes hippo fat for good health, the university student with the illiterate gold miner.

The great majority of whites, both English and Afrikaners, support total segregation. But it is the Afrikaner nationalist who resists any change or modification most bitterly. Many English feel they can always go home. The Afrikaner regards this as his only homeland.

Proud of Identity

For 300 years, he has been proud of his identity. He has fought savages and the wilderness and the British and he means to stay here, at all costs, under white rule.

Onetime Idol Charged With Drunken Driving

Van Nuys, Calif. — One-time matinee idol Ramon Navarro has pleaded innocent to charges he drunken-driving incensed.
He was arrested twice inside 48 hours over the weekend.
Police said the 61-year-old actor's car hit a parked car

Debbie Rosman, 4, Lies seriously injured in Winnipeg's Children's hospital, unaware that her parents and brother were killed in a 3-car accident which caused her injuries. Mr. and Mrs. Ben Rosman and a 3-year-old son were killed. The driver of one of the other cars has been charged with criminal negligence.

Judge Denies Exclusion of City From Suit

Milwaukee — Federal Judge Kenneth Grubb Tuesday denied a petition by the city of Fond du Lac that it be excluded as a defendant in a $600,000 accident suit.

The suit resulted from a car and train collision at a Soo Line crossing in Fond du Lac
May 25, 1955. Mrs. Harold Bo-sin of North Fond du Lac and her two daughters were injured severely in the crash.
She is seeking $80,000 from the Soo Line, her husband seeks $102,950, and $200,000
each for the children.
Mrs. Bosin claimed that automatic warning signals were not flashing at the crossing, the train was not under control and that police had warned the railroad prior to the accident that the signals were not operating properly.
The railroad countered that a contributing factor in the accident was the failure of the city to trim a tree near the crossing which allegedly obstructed the vision of motorists.

Judge Grubb, in announcing his rejection of Fond du Lac's petition, said that the case would be tried in September.
Pre-trial conferences ended

'Monty' Thinks Reds Should be Given Formosa

London — Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery

came home from red China last night advocating that the communists be given Formosa. But his sympathy for Peiping's aspirations did not extend to Hong Kong.
"Hong Kong is part of the British empire," declared the 72-year-old military hero. "If anyone tried to pinch Hong Kong, that would mean war."
"I believe there should be one China and not two," the former NATO deputy commander told reporters, "and that China is the one which has its government in Peiping. When I survey the picture, it seems to me that Formosa should be part of China."

Montgomery, who spent three days in Peiping, said
he found the communists
"new" China "quite preferable" to the country when Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek headed its government.
"They (the communists)
have cleaned the country up and they've swept away corruption and bandits and there are no Teddy boys (juvenile delinquents)," he said.

wined and dined delegates
and huddled with politicians.
They gave these views in news conferences, prepared statements and speeches:

Kennedy — He cannot envision Vice President Richard M. Nixon, who he characterized as a "belligerent and bel-licose man," as president.
The administration contributed to the summit collapse — although the Soviets actually caused its failure — by mishandling the U-2 plane controversy. The key campaign issue will be foreign policy and what he termed the decline of American military power. The west must be strengthened militarily and mittee at the Democratic national convention and will help draft the party's civil rights plank.

Mark R. Holloran of St.
Louis, Missouri national committeeman, said he named Truman to represent Missouri on the platform committee.

At his home in Independence, Truman said, "I have helped write all the civil rights planks and we may have some stiff necks this year. If so, I'll be ready for them."

No War Party
Johnson — There is no "war party nor peace party nor party soft on communism" in America. Soviet Premier Khrushchev's claim that America sabotaged the summit conference is "an arrogant denial of the honest truth."

conduct." Convention delegates won't be stampeded onto any band wagon. The south-is not likely to stage a walkout at the convention.
Symington-Kennedy should not be too confident. He's won seven primaries, but Estes lost the nomination to Adlai Stevenson. The administration has a "calculated policy" of withholding information about what he termed America's missile gap. The U.S. must add $3 billion to its defense budget to negotiate with the Soviets from a position of strength.

Red, White, Blue Star in Youths' Wardrobes

The Polo Shirt and Deck pants will be an almost constant companion for active play or a quiet stroll. The red and white combed cotton shirt features a crew neck, 3-button shoulder closure and three-quarter sleeves. The white cotton sharkskin deck pants have narrow red and blue braid side stripes, roll up cuffs and fly front.

This Classic Cotton print sleeveless shirt and sash are red and gold complementing the gold cotton sateen Jamaica length shorts. A wise old owl is applied in black and the print on the shorts. Birds and animals of story book fame are featured this year in children's playwear.

This Party Dress in Sheer cotton with little red polka dots on white and a red belt with front flat bow is perfect for a garden party and fun to wear. It is sleeveless and features a tucked bodice with dainty white lace edging at the neck and arm hole.

Fashion Favors the Tank suit for girls in blue color-locked acetate, cotton and lastex knit with white leg bands and piping at the neck and white shank buttons. Male athletes will be attired this summer in stretchable briefs. This one is red, white and navy vertical striped boucle knit.

The Striped Red, White and blue textured cotton knit polo shirt with boat neck, three-quarter sleeves and side vents teams with white cotton cord deck pants for summer's favorite posttime—baseball.

School's out! Vacation's here!

That familiar cry soon will be echoing and re-echoing throughout the streets and homes as schools close for the summer season. And away into the closets the skirts and blouses and school clothes will go. What will the children wear this summer?

Red, white and blue, cheery nautical colors, will sing a song of afternoons at the beach, July 4th parades and picnic fireworks. Another color group in the summer spotlight is gold in combination with one or more other colors. It will be seen most often in coordinated sportswear.

In keeping with the vacation spirit—and very appropriate to children—both fashions and fabrics are gay and colorful and mostly patterned. Swimwear emphasizes sleek styling plus maximum comfort in tank suits for girls, brightly striped stretchable trunks for boys.

Applied birds or animals accent girls' playwear, and for boys and girls, mid-calf deck pants and three-quarter sleeved polo shirts probably will be seen behind most baseball bats and doll carriages.

Quite a Switch from the baseball costume is this summer dress-up outfit. The combed cotton jacket and blue walking shorts of combed narrow wale cotton are both machine washable.

Bachelor Guest Takes Girl to Bus

BY EMILY POST
Dear Mrs. Post: I am a bachelor and often am invited to dinner at the houses of my married friends. Again, the other evening I was asked to dine with friends and when I arrived there was a young woman (an unmarried friend of the hostess) also present. After dinner we played cards and we left about 11 o'clock. I walked the young woman to the bus and waited until she got on, and then left to go home. Several days later when talking with my friend on the telephone, he said he was surprised to hear that I had not taken Mary home. He said he had known I wasn't going to take her home, he would have done so himself. Needless to say he made me feel like a heel. I would like to know if I was wrong not have seen her trip home. Had she been my date I would have taken her home but as I met her at the house of friends, I thought taking her to the bus was sufficient. Answer: You should have dry and elected to work on a farm with the cows, calves what the boys and girls of the high schools will do this coming vacation. They are at her choice, they let her go past the time when they can afford to use these two months, these best growing months of the year, in idleness. They need something to do, and now is the time to begin looking for it.

The guidance teacher of course will help on this. He will have established relations with the business people of the town, have held talks with the students, listened to their plans, advised them, and of course, talked with the parents. This teacher will have listed the students who plan to work this vacation time and set down their plans for the future, their abilities, present and potential, and opened the door for interviews.

This is one of the most important phases of the guidance staff's work, something that justifies its existence if that were necessary.

The parents have to take a keen interest in this, so that they understand what the teacher is trying to do, what opportunities employers offer, and what the student himself feels about it.

Not Any Job
Just any job is not the answer. What we want is the job that teaches the student something about his chosen field. It acts as a try-out for him. His experience with the work will either strengthen his desire to pursue it or discourage him so that he will change his mind. It is important that these students have the chance to change their minds early enough to prevent waste of time and money later.

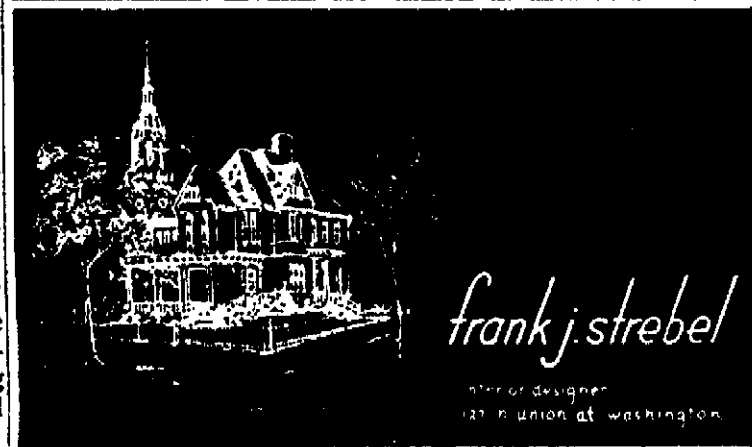

The choices these young people make often surprise their parents. One girl said she wanted to study husband and wife.

Your Problems

Bookkeeper Objects to Tipping, Gets Blunt Advice on Subject

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN: The letter written by the hat check girl got my goat. People who try to shame and embarrass the public into tipping give me a gigantic pain.

I'm a bookkeeper who makes $6,000 a year. Nobody tips me for doing a good job.

I eat out every night and enjoy the company of a date for dinner. If I don't leave a big tip the girl friend gives me a dirty look.

I'm expected to tip the waiter who brings the cocktails, then tip the waitress who serves the dinner. Of course, you have to tip the as I am if he were the right kind of person. What do you And the guy who parks the car has to get a tip, too. Naturally, there's a doorman who must be "taken care of."

Everybody has his hand out. I'm fed to the Adam's apple with this tipping racket. Am I wrong or right?—The Cheap-skate

Dear Cheap: You say you're a $6,000 a year bookkeeper? You live as if you have a $1,000 a month inheritance.

Of course nobody tips a bookkeeper. Why should they? You're not in a service business.

We've walked this cat around the column before, and the consensus is as follows: The European system of tipping is more desirable than the American system. In Europe, fifteen per cent is added to the bill and further tipping is not mandatory.

In this country, however, tipping is a custom and people accept it as part of the cost of going out. If you resent tipping so bitterly, park your own car, and walk a few blocks, eat in a cafeteria, and keep your hat and coat with you.

DEAR ANN: Please print this as I don't want my mother to know I wrote to you.

I'm 15 and in a difficult position. Our house is not nice at all and I'm ashamed to have the fellows see the inside. (The outside is bad enough).

When my date comes to pick me up I meet him on the porch. I know this is not polite and that I should let the fellows in the house but every room needs paint and the furniture and rugs are shabby.

My mother asked me the other day why I never invite the boys in. I told her I'm always in a hurry. I think she knew it wasn't a straight story.

I can't keep this up forever, Ann. Please help me.—Scranton

Dear Scranton: Most fellows aren't the least bit interested in the house. A guy who would stop dating you because the furniture isn't in good condition isn't worth your time.

Your next date should be invited in and have a chance to say a word or two to your mother. One need never apologize for a home—if it's orderly.

DEAR ANN: I am going to repeat word for word what a very attractive fellow in the office said to me. First, I'm 20 and not bad-looking.

He said: "Wilma, I'll take you to dinner and to the theater if you lose 20 pounds, let your hair go back to natural and quit using that hideous white lipstick."

My mother said he's a crude

SEAMS TO ME Questions On Sewing

By Patricia Scott

When all is said and done, much fabric being taken out at the end of the dart. In other words, the darts are too short and too wide. For a good fit, skirts should have two darts on each side of front and back, thus allowing the fullness to be taken in gradually. Very often, just lengthening the darts a little will take up the fullness. If you're short-waisted, you might try lengthening the skirt a little until the hip line is in the proper place, then trimming some off at the waist; you must then lengthen the darts the same amount you cut off or

Q. Whenever I make a dress with a scooped, round or bateau neckline it always gaps. Can you suggest a way to avoid this?

A. First, I suggest that you work on muslin until you conquer this problem. Cut your pattern out in the muslin; then take two or three tucks or darts in the fabric, beginning at the neckline and tapering to the zero point 3 inches below the edge of neckline (illustration). You can do this in front, back, or both if necessary. Whenever this is done, you must then do the same to the paper pattern in exactly the same places.

This alteration must be made on the pattern, because once the garment is cut, the extra fullness cannot be taken out.

Don't fit the neckline too tightly or it may look stretched out of shape after it is finished.

Q. First, let me say how much I'm enjoying your column. I read it each time it is in the paper and have learned a lot already. Now, my trouble is darts. I always get a fullness at the bottom of darts in the back of my skirts. They fit well until they get to within three or four inches of the bottom. This fullness is between the lower end, and at the bottom. I line the skirts but the lining doesn't seem to be causing my trouble. I'm short-waisted and wonder if that might be one of the causes?

A. I can't tell you how pleased I am that you're enjoying the column and that you are gaining something from it. Thank you!

I will just assume, that this bulge is not caused partly by orange peel in the house, chop the side seams and that they are sufficiently tapered. Bubbling darts are caused by too

Sheinwold Double Used To Indicate Defense

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Your partner's penalty double is not holy. It asks you whether or not you would enjoy defending against the opponents. If you would actually dislike that very much, you are expected to say so.

South has a very reasonable opening bid of one spade, and start moving in a different direction.

In taking the double out, South indicates the nature of his hand. A rebid in his suit shows a long suit but little strength beyond a minimum opening bid. With a long suit and greater strength, South would make a jump rebid. With a second biddable suit, South would make his second bid in that suit.

North Raises

North raises to three spades, knowing that South has a 6-card spade suit. South can have only a singleton diamond at most, for otherwise he would let the double of two diamonds stand. If South had only five spades, he would have at least four cards in some other suit, and would probably be able to bid that other suit.

South would go on to game in spades if he had substantial extra strength — for example the king of hearts, or even the queen of clubs. Since his opening bid is skimpy he stops short at three spades.

South makes three spades fairly easily but would not make game. If South unwisely passed the double of two diamonds, West would either make his contract or go down one trick, depending on the quality of the defense. In neither case would South be as happy.

West has a fair enough overcall of two diamonds. North has the hand we saw yesterday.

North's double says: "Partner, I have a good defensive hand. It should take at least three tricks against the opponents. If you likewise have good defense, let's settle down and get fat. If you have poor defense, take this double out."

South has a poor hand for defense. The singleton in the enemy's suit is the signal to

Lethal Quills, Long-Lived Myth Protect Porky, Vandal of Woods

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Indifferent, slothful, dull and dirty — that's Porky Porcupine a Wisconsin enigma. He'll eat anything from the bark of valuable trees to an axe handle and, furthermore, he'll gnaw his way through a wall to do the job. The damage he does in a lifetime is frightening but Mr. Porcupine is protected — by a myth.

Somewhere a story has crept around him, and the story is a false one. But it is a common, lingering belief that it is against the law and against man's principles to kill this prickly fellow. Nobody knows whence came this belief.

Time was, of course, when it was generally considered to be foolish to slaughter Porky, but that was in the days when getting lost in the woods was more commonplace than it is now. And Porky — so lazy so indifferent, so myopic — was just about the only animal an unarmed man could kill in the woods. He was food for the hungry hunter or woodsman who was lost and out of ammunition. Easy to dispatch with a club, the porcupine enjoyed a certain kind of freedom to wander and to do his incredible damage on homes and on forests.

The porcupine, who weighs from 15 to 35 or 40 pounds in cause it may contain the salt from a man's hand.

Many an unwary canoeist has found himself up a river without his paddles if he was so lax as to leave them within reach of the devilish appetite of porky. His drive for the salty taste in the wood where man has perspired has led him to ruin furniture, tools and almost anything else that man has touched.

Wise men have tried to outsmart Porky by leaving a piece of rock salt on an old chair so that he will not chew up the seats in the privy or wreck the hoe handles. But Porky has confounded them by letting the salt alone and chewing through, into and around the seat of the chair leaving the lump of salt untouched.

Ugly, Clumsy

His ugly body, mishapen, fat and clumsy, measures about 25 to 40 inches from his snout to his spiny tail. This prevents him from being swift if he wants to be swift, but he doesn't. He stands about 12 inches high at the shoulder and is a veritable external iron maiden. He is amiable and myopic, but when he chooses to, do so he can commit murder so horribly and lingeringly that this alone should have earned him hatred.

Several years ago an Oconto county farmer captured a feeble fox which was bristling with the quills of the porcupine. The fox was nearly dead from starvation and pain. With a reputation for being smart, the ailing fox apparently had decided to pounce upon Porky. It was his last pounce.

He was blinded, probably by a blow from the club tail of his quarry. Quills still hung from his drying eye socket. His mouth, tongue, nose and throat were so swollen the fox could scarcely breathe and certainly could not eat. His underbelly was like a pin cushion for quills, some of which had traveled through the stomach walls and pierced the intestines.

Terrible Weapons

Many a fine hunting dog, troubled by rash enthusiasm, has been ruined and mutilated. Lynx, bobcats and even bears have been penalized — sometimes by death — for thinking that porcupine meat is good to eat, which it is. The quills he bears are terrible weapons.

These are from about two to five inches long and they number up to 40,000, according to some experts. Each quill is armed with a sharp point and each point in turn is equipped with dozens of nearly microscopic barbs.

When Porky Porcupine makes a point he can also such animals decide to dine upon porcupine they scoop a careful paw under the Porky and flip him over on his back. Then he is eaten out of his own bristly hide. But such animals are now rare in Wisconsin, so Porky thrives.

Vulgar Rodent

Wisconsin's porcupine is not to be confused with his European cousin which is known as a hedgehog but which is an insectivore. Our porcupine is known as the Canadian porcupine and is a vulgar rodent. When he is present in large numbers he can ruin a forest. He "barks" and girdles trees and often severely damages and kills them. Their dining habits produce deformities, dead tops, scars and woodrot.

In one recent survey, it was shown that porcupines had damaged a whopping 20 per cent of the healthy trees over five inches in diameter. Nevertheless, an intensive hunt of the area produced a kill of only one porcupine in each seven acres of the surveyed area.

Porky, a rodent, is North America's second largest. He is the runnerup to the beaver, our largest. He is easy to kill. But alas, he is protected by the myth that he must not be killed.

Predators Rare

He is protected, too, by the fact that most of the natural predators who handle him in a fight are virtually extinct in our woodlands. These are the fisher, lynx, bobcat, martin and sometimes bears. When upon porcupine they scoop a careful paw under the Porky and flip him over on his back. Then he is eaten out of his own bristly hide. But such animals are now rare in Wisconsin, so Porky thrives.

This vandalistic quill pig occurs from the woodlands of Marathon county into the north, but he also ranges over most of northern North America, south to Maine, the mountains of Pennsylvania and into northern Michigan and Minnesota.

And wherever he lives, he's carefree because his protection lies behind some 40,000 horrible quills long lived and a myth that he should not be killed.

Denies Drunken Driving Charge

Sidney A. Kroeger, 20, of 405 Elm street, Neenah, in municipal court has denied a charge of drunken driving and posted $150 bond for trial Aug. 23.

Kroeger was arrested about 2:15 a.m. Saturday after he lost control of his car while following another. Police said Kroeger's car went from side to side, then hit a utility pole at Division and Atlantic streets.

Health Board To Interview Job Applicants

Seeks to Hire Combined Health Educator, Sanitarian

The Appleton Board of Health has received seven applications for the job of sanitarian - health educator, and will interview two of the applicants later this month.

The position opened up late last year when Claude Greisch, former Sanitarian, was made head of the sanitation department. There is $6,000 in the budget for salary.

Dr. Marvin Kagen, health commissioner, is advocating a combined sanitarian and health educator, and is recommending that one requirement for the job be a master's degree in health education.

The two applicants to be interviewed are completing studies for a master's degree.

One board member suggested it might be necessary to get city council approval for creating such a position. Another member said that by appropriating the money for the job the council had given its okay.

Dr. Kagen said he thought someone could be hired for $5,500 to $7,000 a year.

Greisch was ordered to ready his equipment for the summer to control program, and was authorized to purchase material. Formal bids will be asked.

Greisch said the program started in May last year and was asked why he hadn't yet started this year. He said the board of health had not ordered him to do so.

Dr. Kagen suggested that property owners be allowed to purchase at cost from the city DDT pellets to throw in mosquito water holes where mosquitoes breed. No action was taken.

The park department will be asked to put the pellets in park water holes and at the golf course.

Pasternak Believed Nobel Prize Was Factor Which Saved His Life

BY GUSTAV SVENSSON
Geneva — Boris Pasternak told me, in the middle of the storm over "Doctor Zhivago," that he believed the Nobel prize had saved his life. He also said that despite statements made in his name, he had never renounced the Nobel award. Pointing to his head and heart, Pasternak said: "It is in here and in there and will remain there forever." Two days before King Gustaf VI of Sweden was to present the Nobel awards to the winners in Stockholm, Pasternak asked me, as a Swede, to tell loved to be published in the Swedish academy that he said. I believe the woman in Paris who was still claiming the Nobel prize; although he was unable to go was Jacqueline Proyard, a litganda media. Konstantin Fedin, his neighbor in the Peredelkino writers' colony outside Moscow, had just called Pasternak a traitor.

Very Isolated
He was very isolated and regarded western newsmen as his "only friends and remaining links with the world." I asked him if the Nobel prize brought him all his troubles, and if his position was being aggravated by what was written about him in the western press. This he denied vehemently. "I owe my life to these international protests," he said. "Once 'Doctor Zhivago' was published abroad, I had it written that book and I had to publish it where it could be published. I put all I had of strength and ability as a writer into the book and there is nothing I would change. The Nobel prize was of tremendous help. To me it meant the support of the world. This saved me from the worst. They could no longer treat me the way they to Sweden to receive it in person, a confidante to whom Pasternak used to send poems and other manuscripts by traveling friends. The Nobel prize money would return to the Nobel fund because he had declined it. I saw Pasternak on Dec. 8, 1958, six weeks after the Swedish academy announced it had selected him for the first literary Nobel prize ever awarded to a Soviet Russian. Five weeks earlier, Pravda had published a letter in Pasternak's name declining the award. The storm against the au-would have wanted to. They over in a month. Most of it did. But the time was also to I told Pasternak that Hall-Laxness, the Icelandic literary Nobel prizewinner, had stopped the attacks against Pasternak. Friends visiting his country home were handed a slip of paper by a servant. The note said in English and Russian: "Iceland? But if said in English and Russian: 'I can receive no help.' he said. There can be no preferences. Pasternak believed at the time that the storm would pass Boris Pasternak."

POST CRESCENT News of the Twin Cities Menasha - Neenah

Petition Seeks Sewage District In Menasha Town

Board Members Ask More Data On Spring Road Water Setup

Neenah — Petitions now are being circulated in the town of Menasha's eastern section for the expansion of the present sanitary District No. 4 to include the entire Maplewood section of the town.

This section is the part between Menasha and Appleton and between Little Lake Butt e des Morts and Highway 10. Sanitary district No. 4 now includes only the Valley Fair Shopping center and the residential area west of it.

A small section of the town known as the Lynch plat, which includes commercial and residential property north of Highway 47 and adjoins the Appleton city limits, is a sanitary district already receiving sewer and water service from the city of Appleton and would not be included in this new expanded district.

The petitions seek expansion of the district to provide sanitary sewer facilities and a sewage disposal plant which will serve the eastern section of the town.

Water District Town Chairman Amos D. Page said today that the town board has not taken action on the creation of sanitary district No. 5 which would be to provide municipal water services to the Zeh and Schneider plats on Highway 150 west of Highway 41 and the Spring Road school.

A hearing on this petition was held May 23 at the school. Page said the town board has asked the McMahon Engineering company to prepare an estimate of the cost including the school in the district and also without the school in the district.

The petition asks inclusion of the school but the school board was not among the signers of the petition.

Abandon Efforts To Recover Body Of Neenah Man

Fond du Lac — Dragging operations aimed at locating the body of Richard Nelson, 21, Neenah, were called off today by the Fond du Lac county sheriff's department because of rough water in Lake Winnebago.

Nelson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harley Nelson, 1072 Reed street, Neenah, drowned Monday while attempting to swim to shore from a capsized boat.

Besides rough water, lashed by today's high winds, sheriff's deputies cited the vague description of the area in which Nelson is believed to have drowned.

Ten boats were out dragging the area off the park most of Tuesday. The area is about 10 miles north of Fond du Lac on the east shore.

Nelson and two others — James O'Laughlin and Michael Tadych, both of North Fond du Lac — went out on the lake Monday afternoon. Their boat overturned about 4:30 p.m. After all three clung to the boat for a time, Nelson decided to try for shore, despite urgings to stay by his companions.

The two at the boat later noticed the kapok-filled seat cushion-type life preserver floating past them. They were picked up about 10 p.m. by another boater.

(In New York, industry sources said U.S. paper machinery producers are competing for the same business. Orlov asked for tenders from them when he visited the U.S. late last year.)

Orlov said here the Russians are building large integrated pulp and paper mills with the aim of increasing pulp paper and board production by 1965.

$165,675 Loss Recorded at County Arena

State Audit Shows
Operating Deficit
Of $82,243

Post-Crescent News Service

Green Bay — The Veterans' Memorial arena has recorded a net loss, including depreciation, of $165,675 since its doors were opened. The operating deficit on April 4 was $82,243. These are the totals in a report of the state department of audit which will go to a session of the county board arena committee tonight. The report was received Tuesday by the county clerk's office but it did not become a public record until 9:30 a.m. today after a pageant which included the board's finance committee locking itself in the courthouse basement Tuesday night.

The report for the period between last Sept. 1 and April 4 includes 10 pages of criticism of the arena committee and business methods at the arena. The audit was requested by Brown county because of accusations made by arena employees and worry about the size of the 1960 arena budget deficit.

Unrecorded Payments
The criticism included reports that Jack Braley, arena manager, used $72 of county money to buy employees hams for Christmas, that $243 was due from Braley from checks from the Green Bay Bobcats Hockey club, that two $50 rental payments were unrecorded, that business as well as charity groups were using the arena opened was put at $82,243. The county had to provide $42,276 from the general fund up to last Sept. 1, and $41,155 since then.

These totals do not include annual payments on the arena bond issue and its interest. This runs about $140,000 yearly and is paid from the general county budget. The audit listed the operating deficit on Sept. 1 at $51,647. During the period of the audit, the arena made a net profit of $23,850 on rental and promotion and a net profit of $12,505 on concessions. During the same period, $76,161 was spent. This left a net operating deficit of $39,905. To this, $31,846 was added for depreciation.

The total deficit since the arena opened was put at $82,243. The county had to provide $42,276 from the general fund up to last Sept. 1, and $41,155 since then.

These totals do not include annual payments on the arena bond issue and its interest. This runs about $140,000 yearly and is paid from the general county budget.

Catlin Hopes Counties Join In New Airport

Ideal Solution
But Not Practical
At Present Time

Neenah — Mark Catlin, chairman of the airport committee of the Outagamie county board, held out hopes for a joint Winnebago-Outagamie county airport when he spoke to the Optimist club Tuesday noon at the Valley Inn.

Catlin, although he thought that such an idea would not be practical politically.

As far as the present Outagamie county board is concerned, Catlin said he doubted if he could get a dime for an airport. As for Winnebago county joining with Outagamie county to build a new and much larger airport, he said they practically laughed at him when he discussed this with some Winnebago county supervisors.

Such a joint effort would be the ideal solution, he indicated, for both the economic view and for the convenience of passengers. But getting each county to join in building an airport at this time is not practical, he stressed.

"We have a lousy airport, physically," Catlin declared. "There is a tremendous need for improvements and we have to do something about it."

Winnebago Hemmed In
He said Winnebago county's airport at Oshkosh had real limitations with the highway, lake and railroad tracks. "You are hemmed in for the future. I don't know why they think they have any great shakes down there."

"Physically, they are worse than we are. They have done a very fine job with what they have," he mentioned.

Catlin told of a report being prepared by a San Francisco consulting firm for the Outagamie county airport which is to study the present airport at Appleton and also study a possible joint airport with Winnebago county and to make its recommendations.

The first report should be ready for the July 12 meeting of the Outagamie board and the final report by September, he thought. The firm is to list various recommendations in case the first recommendation, which Catlin thought would be for a joint county airport, did not materialize.

He said five new airport sites were shown to the company. These were on Highway 10 west of Appleton, Highway 41 south of the Outdoor theater, a site near the Highway 41 and 45 intersection in Winnebago county, one in the Lake park area in Calumet county and one two miles north of Little Chute.

Catlin said Outagamie county voters in a 1947 referendum approved building a county airport at the Lake park site, which is probably the best site for serving this area. But the county board voted it down.

"Couldn't Get 10 Cents"
"Fifteen of those members are still on the board and if a vote were taken today, I doubt if we could get 10 cents for an airport," he told the Optimists.

"Just as crazy are those with ideas of having a great big, modern airport with big buildings. You want an airport to serve this area," Catlin stated.

Turning to the North Central Airline service to Appleton, which he called the "world's worst service," he said that if North Central went out of its way to give bad service, it had reached the ultimate in the service to Appleton. "We are the first airport they have been forced to serve and they are trying to show us and the CAB (Civil Aeronautics Board)."

Catlin estimated that 40 per cent of the outgoing passengers from the Winnebago airport at Oshkosh were Neenah-Menasha people and another 20 per cent came from Appleton. He thought Appleton was averaging 200 outgoing passengers a month with the total of Appleton patrons being 320 a month at both posts.

"We have been meeting and exceeding the airlines' quotas and still they keep deferring the extra service promised us," he continued. "If we had morning and evening flights out of Appleton, regardless of Oshkosh, we would run about 1,000 passengers a month and the North Central airline vice president does not deny this," he continued.

He thought the 4-step development suggested for the Outagamie airport could run $1.1 million "but with the present personnel, I feel airport development is very remote."

The Macs, who entertain Harrison Sunday afternoon, will be further bolstered by the return of catcher - outfielder Darold Egger from school this week. Pitcher Tom Balthazor also is back for the summer from St. Thomas college at St. Paul, Minn.

The Macs' home game against Freedom June 22 will be played at 7:30 p.m. on June 15 instead and the other night game against the same team, slated for July 13, has been rescheduled for 7:30 p.m. July 7.

Hollywood Area Due For Facelifting Job

Chamber of Commerce Leads Move to Give Town Glamor

BY BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

Hollywood—For decades, the appearance of the movie capital remained the same. While most of Los Angeles boomed, its much-publicized suburb continued static, even a little seedy.

Now famed Hollywood boulevard is taking on a modern look, getting a touch of needed glamor. The Chamber of Commerce is leading a campaign to reclaim the street from the orange stands and close-out stores. Buildings and theaters, most of them dating back to the '20s, are refurbishing their fronts. A handsome office building at Hollywood and Highland avenue is the first big addition to the skyline in years; others may follow.

Tourists have long complained that there was little to see in Hollywood itself, aside from the footprints at the city council has approved Graham's Chinese. Now a master plan to develop the Hollywood hills into a vast residential area. Some day, 2 million people will live there.

the deer and coyote still roam.
Hollywood, of course, isn't limited to a geographical area, but extends wherever the movie studios are. They're changing, too.
The most dramatic change planned for the studios will be on the 180 acres that house 20th Century Fox's back lot. The outdoor sets will be swept away for the half-billion-dollar Century city. Within 15 years, the Westwood plot is expected to contain massive gleaming buildings that will accommodate 25,000 workers by day and 35,000 residents by night.

Another big chunk of movie real estate facing development is the Warners ranch, where Errol Flynn once saved Burma and other reaches of the British empire. A thousand acres of rich San Fernando valley land, it will be cut up into shopping centers and housing under a plan recently submitted to the city.

In a way, Beverly Hills is more like Hollywood than Hollywood itself. The stars live and shop and dine in Beverly Hills, and that community is fast changing, too. New office buildings are towering above Wilshire boulevard, and the shops are getting posh all the time.

Oil derricks are rising over some of the studios, and some of the lots may parcel out more of their land for development. Some studios have undergone changes of ownership. The pattern has been for TV interests to buy out the onetime filmmakers: Desilu's purchase of the RKO lots, Revue's buy of Universal, Red Skelton's of the old Chaplin studio.

Oddly, no studios have disappeared from the landscape. Backlots and ranches have been sold, but the demand of TV films for space is so great that scarcely a sound stage has been torn down.
It looks as though Hollywood may be prettier, richer and more densely populated in the future. But the business of making movies will go on just as it has for half a century.

Gallery Spectator Convinces Artist
Baltimore—The woman at the art gallery looked long and hard at a semi-abstract painting entitled "The Quarry Snow."
She talked about it at such length that she convinced the man standing next to her it actually was a picture of some boats on a beach.
The man was the artist who painted the picture, Bennard Perlman. He painted it without boats in mind, he said, but was so convinced that he changed its name to "Boats in Quarry."

Wooded hillsides, fields and shores of Lake Winnebago were turned into an outdoor classroom for some 160 students from Appleton's Franklin and Morgan schools last Friday.

Buses carried the fifth and sixth grade pupils to Calumet County park for an annual outing and application of schoolroom work to the outdoors. This was the fourth year for Morgan school. Franklin school made the trip for the first time as guests of Morgan. Rural farm agents, were guides and discussion leaders. The day's work consisted of work in art, history, geography, conservation and forestry. One of the focal points of the trip was to impress students with the recreational resources in the Fox Cities area.

Council Unit Accepts Bids On Park Work

Shelter Slab, Walk At LaFollette Will Cost About $1,900

Kaukauna — The health and recreation committee of the common council accepted the low bid of Miller Masonry for construction of a slab for a park shelter and walk at LaFollette park, total bid price being $1,861.52.

The bid was almost $600 lower than the next low bid. Five bids were received. Ron Miller, owner, indicated it would cost $1,200 for a 5-inch slab approximately 2,400 square feet, $511.52 for 1,344 square feet of 4-inch sidewalk and $150 to remove a building, now located where the shelter slab is to be laid.

He indicated work would start within the week and completion was likely sometime this month. Committee members agreed to hold a public meeting at Riverside park on June 14 to hear public opinion on location of a shelter in that park. It was indicated the city budget could afford a shelter for this park although the LaFollette shelter was running higher than anticipated.

Members voted to instruct the carnival located in LaFollette park due to the Legion picnic to move out immediately. The recreation director indicated several hundred dollars damage had been done to rest rooms at the park during the picnic.

A discussion was held on locating playground equipment in Fassbender park, but aldermen voted to have the clerk check deeds to the park property to ascertain whether limits on use as a park were included in the deed.

Kimberly Holds Dinner Party For Graduates

Kimberly—Graduating seniors were honored at a dinner party at Riverview Country club Tuesday with faculty members as special guests.

The party was arranged in place of the annual senior class trip on an experimental basis. The reaction of students will determine whether similar events should be planned in future years rather than the picnic.

Plans are underway for the class day and graduation to be held June 8 in the high school auditorium.

Joanne Haen was named winner of a Thilmay award and the Elk Leadership contest while Tom Verhagen was named winner of the Elk constitution award and a $100 cash award on the state Elk competition. He also won the WBAY scholarship to St. Norbert's and was honored for his high ranking in Merit Scholarship competition.

Joyce Van Dyke was named third place winner in the Elks constitution competition. Winner of the DAR award was Barbara Boyd and James Steger, a 7-letter winner in football, basketball and baseball, received the American Legion Athletic award.

Walter Schmidt, guidance director and principal elect, was honored with a plaque from the Youth Center Advisory board, Lions club, Rotary club and Chamber of Commerce.

Schmidt has worked as director of the Youth Center for eight years and has helped it grow to one of the most active and well supported centers in the state. In his capacity as guidance director at the school he has helped many young people.

Another surprise in the proceedings was the announcement by Vincent Rohlf, Badger Northland president, his company had made it possible for Aage Fredenslund, Danish foreign exchange student at the school last year, to attend the University of Wisconsin starting in 1961 on a $1,000 per year scholarship from his firm.

Joanne Haen, class president, issued the official welcome and introduced class members. The class history was read by Ann Bachhuber and Mary Ball. A senior girls' triple trio plus one sang, "Tumbling Tumble Weed," under the direction of A. P. McGrath.

Police Report Two Accidents Over Weekend

Kaukauna — Two accidents were investigated over the Memorial Day weekend by Kaukauna police, one resulting in personal injury only and the second in extensive property damage.

Jim Penterman, 17, route 3, Kaukauna, suffered bruises and abrasions to his left arm when the car in which he was a passenger veered off the road causing his arm which was partially out of the open window to strike a mailbox at the side of the road.

Driver of the car was Daniel G. The mailbox was moved close to the roadway as a result of soft shoulders. The mishap occurred at 8 p.m. Monday.

Over $550 damage resulted to two cars in an intersection mishap at Sullivan avenue and Sixth street about 4:30 p.m. Monday. Cars driven by Mrs. Lorraine Andrejeski, 425 W. Seventh street, Kaukauna, and Dennis D. Dorn, 20, Sherwood, collided at the intersection. Dorn was ordered to appear in justice court to answer charges of failing to yield the right of way.

Haluska Takes Coaching Job

Succeeds Callahan At Milwaukee's Don Bosco High

Milwaukee — (U) — Former University of Wisconsin quarterback Jim Haluska was named Tuesday as head football and baseball coach at Don Bosco High school.

Haluska played quarterback for the Racine Raiders of the Tri-State league during the last two seasons. He also assisted with the freshman squad at Wisconsin.

In 1955, Haluska was the No. 2 passer in the Big Ten and set Wisconsin records for passes attempted, completed, for completion percentage and for yards gained.

He was drafted by the Chicago Bears in 1955, played infrequently, and was traded to the Cleveland Browns in 1957.

Haluska, who succeeds Ed Callahan in the coaching position, will take over his new duties Aug. 16. He is returning to the Milwaukee Catholic conference as a coach after starting in football for Racine St. Catherine in 1948-49. Callahan has accepted a coaching position at Rockford.

Hackbart Selected Wisconsin Nine's 'Most Valuable'

Outfielder Dale Hackbart has been named the most valuable player on the 1960 University of Wisconsin baseball team. Shortstop Dick Van Eerden of Milwaukee was elected captain.

The Badgers finished in third place in the Big Ten season, completed last Saturday. Hackbart was second to Russ Mueller in team batting, hitting .313 to the Milwaukee's senior's, .317. Hackbart led in doubles (5), home runs (4) and in runs batted in (19).

Dale is now deciding on whether to sign a pro baseball or football contract.

He was drafted by the Green Bay Packers and reportedly has had several baseball offers, with the Pittsburgh Pirates rated a strong possibility.

Views Packers' 1960 Season

Dillon Fears Lack of Reserves Might Hurt

BY ART DALEY
Post-Crescent News Service

Green Bay — A couple of Texans—one a present Packer and the other an ex-Packer—wrote some interesting words today and both touched on the Bay's traditional rival, the Bears.

Bobby Dillon, now assistant sales manager for Ralph Wilson Plastics, Inc., of Temple, and Max McGee, a good will representative and field supervisor for the T. E. Mercer Trucking Co. of Fort Worth, were asked their thoughts on the "greatest win" and the "toughest loss" of 1959.

Dillon, the often all-pro defensive back who announced his retirement after last season, put his feelings this way:

Enjoyed Career

"I would like to take this opportunity to tell the people in Green Bay how much I have enjoyed my career with the Packers. I regret not having a real good season in my last one there but you can't have everything you want. The many good friends that I have there will be missed. Maybe I will have an opportunity to see a game or two since our firm recently purchased a warehouse in Chicago."

Bobby said that three pro teams have approached him about coaching and playing. "If coaching were my prime

Cubs Blast Antonelli, 9 to 1, Drop Giants Farther Behind

Clemente's 11th-Inning Single Gives Pirates Win Over Reds

By The Associated Press
What's with the San Francisco Giants? Don't they know they're back home, where all that good pitching is supposed to pay off?

They won 14 of their first 19 games at spanking new Candlestick park. But now the Chicago Cubs have taken two of three there, knocking out three of the Giants' top pitchers and dropping them 12 games behind the National league-leading Pittsburgh Pirates.

After jarring the Giants out of a share of the lead with a split in a Memorial day doubleheader, the Cubs won, 9-1, Tuesday night against southpaw Johnny Antonelli. The Pirates defeated Cincinnati, 4-3, in 11 innings at Pittsburgh.

Last place Philadelphia cut loose for six runs in the eighth inning and whipped Milwaukee, 12-7. Los Angeles rapped St. Louis, 8-3.

Set Up Doubles

The Cubs, responsible for three of the Giants' seven defeats at spacious Candlestick, got this one on a pair of doubles by Jerry Kindall, good for three runs, and homers by Ernie Banks and Bob Will. Banks' homer was his tenth. He also had a triple and double.

Glen Hobbie (4-6) was the winner, losing a shutout when he walked Willie McCovey and hit Orlando Cepeda ahead of a pair of infield outs in the second inning.

Several days ago, Green Bay Mayor Roman Denissen predicted that the Dodgers would draw more fans to Joannes park for the Foxes-Dodgers game than Fox Cities will draw for the season series at Goodland field.

In accepting the challenge, Mitchell went one step further. He said the Foxes will not only outdraw the Dodgers in their personal season series but will ring up a higher total attendance for the entire 3-1 league campaign.

Mitchell said that the next time he gets together with Denissen, the stakes for the bet will be established.

St. Paddy Triumphs In Epsom Derby

Epsom, England — (P) — British-owned St. Paddy, in the colors of Sir Victor Sassoon, won the 181st running of the Epsom derby today.

Bear Games

Maxie, punter and pass catcher deluxe, also tabbed both Bear games explaining: "Strange as it may seem, the thing that I enjoyed more than anything was when the last punt rolled out down on the 1-yard line and time was running out. I didn't hit the ball good but the wind blew it down there." That punt, which sailed 62 yards, set up a safety in the last few seconds.

The Texans were asked about the Packers' chances for 1960:

Dillon pointed out: "In my opinion, Green Bay still has a lot to accomplish before seriously thinking of a championship. Reserves are the big question, as always. It seems that we never have had adequate reserves."

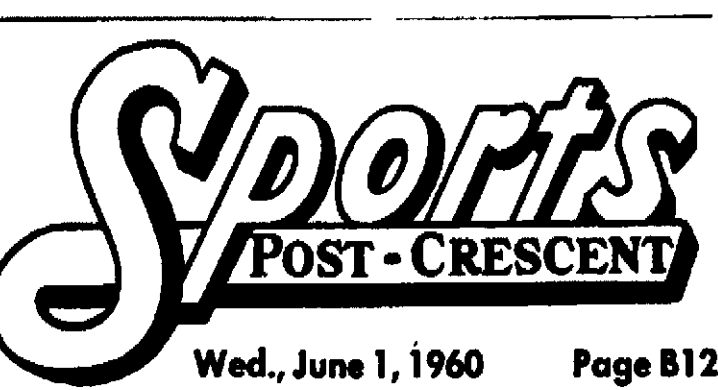

McGee put it this way: "I have never been more optimistic about any season as I am about the one coming up. I truthfully believe if we continue to improve half as much this year as last we might be the team to beat."

Burdette Pounded for 6 Runs in Frame; Buhl, Owens Go Tonight

Philadelphia — (A) — The only thing missing was a mushroom cloud over the stadium Tuesday night. Philadelphia's 6-run explosion in the eighth inning defeated Milwaukee 12-7.

Phillies batters combined two triples, two singles, two walks and a double for the six runs, all at the expense of Lew Burdette of the Braves.

Milwaukee and Philadelphia were slated to meet again tonight in the second game of their three-game series. Bob Buhl (3-2) will start for the Braves against Jim Owens (2-5).

Cal Neeman opened the inning for the Phillies with a powerful triple. With one out, Harry Anderson batted for pitcher Chris Short and drew a walk. Tony Taylor followed with a double to score Bobby Malmkus, who ran for Neeman. Alvin Park was passed to fill the bases. Bobby Del Greco singled to score two more runs. Ken Walters singled and Pancho Herrera tripled to score the final two runs.

Call on MacKenzie
Ken MacKenzie was then called upon to take over the pitching chore from a now-wobbly Burdette and retired the side.

Until the big eighth for the Phillies came along both teams had scored in clusters. Milwaukee got two in the third, one in the fifth and three in the sixth. Philadelphia tallied one in the first, two in the third and three in the fifth.

Sloppy fielding in the sixth inning allowed the Braves to tie the score by pushing three runs across on as many singles and two errors.

Philadelphia scored its initial run in the first inning on single by Taylor, Dark and Del Greco. The Braves took the lead in the third on a double from Charlie Lau, starter Juan Pizarro's triple and Felix Mantilla's double.

Tie Club Victory Streak Record At Six, Play Dodgers Here Tonight in Final of Series

Green Bay — The fast-moving Fox Cities Foxes surged into second place — only one game from the Three-I league lead — Tuesday night by sweeping a doubleheader from Green Bay.

The Foxes, hottest team in the league, beat the Dodgers, 3-1 and 9-2, for their fifth and sixth straight wins (tying the all-time club record) and eighth success in their last nine starts.

Green Bay's losing streak was extended to nine straight — a club record. The last five of those setbacks have been administered by the Foxes.

Tonight, the Wisconsin clubs wind up their 6-game series with an 8 p. m. encounter at Goodland field. The Foxes are expected to start Pat Gillick on the mound against the Dodgers' Phil Ortega. Both have 1-1 records.

Demons Nip Soos In 12th; Losers Drop to Third

By The Associated Press
Cedar Rapids, the front-runner in the Three-I league, was accorded rough treatment Tuesday night.

Ron Brand smashed two homers, good for three runs, as Burlington outslugged Cedar Rapids' league leaders, 9-6. Bill Jackson had a 3-run homer for the Bees and Gene Johnson socked No. 9 for Cedar Rapids.

Sioux City had Des Moines on the ropes several times, but the Demons rallied and finally won out in the twelfth, 10-9. Nolan Campbell's infield single with the bases loaded and none out drove home the deciding run. Sioux City, which dropped to third place, stranded 21 runners. Fox City swept a doubleheader from Green Bay, 3-1 and 9-2.

In the other game, Topeka topped Lincoln, 8-6, with Bill Joe Dasher driving in the winning run.

Rate Pastrano 2-1 Favorite Over Ray

Chicago—(U)—Willie Pastrano, unbeaten in three fights this year, is a 2-1 favorite in a light-heavyweight bout tonight with Chicago's Sonny Ray.

The 10-round in Chicago stadium will be televised (ABC, 9, CDT). Pastrano, who now lives in Miami Beach, Fla., after beginning his career in New Orleans, is a dancing, bobbing battler with little punching power.

Ray, rusty after only one start this year, has scored 14 knockouts in winning 17 fights. He has been beaten nine times and has six draws.

Pastrano has only seven defeats and has been kayoed only once. He has 34 victories and three draws.

Herrera tripled in the fifth to score Ken Walters. Tony Curry, who was pinching for Smith, greeted Burdette with a single that was good for two runs after Lew had relieved Pizarro.

The loss gave Burdette a 3-2 record and Short his second victory against no losses.

Yawkey Angry at Boston Writers, Drops Hint He May Move Red Sox

BY BOB GREEN

Boston — Boston Red Sox owner Tom Yawkey is so fed up with the treatment his team is getting from local sports writers he has dropped a hint he may move the team from Boston.

But multimillionaire Yawkey, in a rare news conference, said he will go along with Billy Jurgens as manager of the seventh-place team. Later he qualified his remarks about moving the club.

How Many? He made a surprise appearance in the press room atop Fenway Park just before there I think you all understand.

Later, however, Yawkey ped several hints he may move the team if the writers don't quit riding the club. He don't think for the future to decided the reporters gently at side," he said.

Earlier, he and general manager Bucky Harris re-think you're qualified to manage a ball club?" he demanded. "This is a final statement and an expression of confidence in our manager," they said.

"To stop all rumors, the Red Sox announces that Billy Jurgens is our manager and no changes are contemplated."

"Sometimes it goes beyond the bounds of human dignity and reason," he said. "I don't put up with it. I don't have to. Just remember I've got bad as that last road trip."

Weather to Continue at Fine Pace

The Fox Cities had a sum- mer-type evening many peo- ple dream of Tuesday. The low was 62. Slight showers sprinkled the ground at 2 a. m.

A small squall moved over the area about 5:30 a.m. and dropped some .09 of an inch of rain between 6:30 and 7:30 a.m. Skies cleared later and the temperature began to soar. It was 72 at 10 a.m. to- day, nine degrees lower than the high of 81 Tuesday.

More showers are expect- ed during the next five days. The 5-day outlook calls for temperatures a v e r a g e or above. Normal maximum is 64 to 72, normal low 43 to 52. It is to get warmer Satur- day and cooler Sunday. Pre- cipitation will total about one- quarter to three-quarters of an inch.

Elsewhere heavy rain, thunderstorms, hail and tor- nadoes raked sections of the country.

The tornadoes were not con- firmed by the weather bur- eau, however reports that they had struck came from sections of Texas, mainly in the southwest plains region.

Wing, Tex., in the south- west section of the state be- low New Mexico, reported a heavy thunderstorm with hail stones 5 inches in diameter.

In the early hours of the day, parts of Texas, Okla- homa and southern Kansas were put under a severe weather and tornado alert.

Winds recorded at between 75 and 80 m.p.h. lashed the eastern Dakotas, accompan- ied by thunderstorms and heavy rain. The storm moved eastward, alerting southern Minnesota and west central Wisconsin residents to their movement.

Trading Up On Market

Prices Uneven as Key Issues Thrash About Irregularly

New York—Stock mar- ket prices thrashed irregular- ly today amid busy trading.

Some sharp gains among se- lected issues studded the list. But advances and declines were generally limited to around a point.

Electronic shares slumped as mid-day selling wiped out earlier gains. Most aircrafts, rubbers, metals, oils and to- baccos retreated.

But utilities spurred ahead. Motors, vending machines and mail order houses edged high- er. Steels, chemicals and rails were mixed.

Western Union paced the ad- vance among selected issues by climbing more than 2.

Selling dropped General In- strument and General Tele- phone more than a point. Gen- eral Time and Zenith held gains of about 1.

Losses of a point or so were taken by Goodrich, General Dynamics, Universal Match, Lorillard and Kennecott.

At noon, the Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up .30 at 215.10 with industri- als unchanged, rails off .10 and utilities up .60. The Dow Jones industrial index was up .93 at 626.43 at mid-day.

Government bonds advanc- ed while corporate securities turned mixed.

Paper Firm Head Sees Gain

Purchase of Envelop Firm Called Filling Gap in Line

Third quarter earnings of West Virginia Pulp and Pa- per company will depend on the effect of a May rise in kraft paper prices averaging 5 per cent, David L. Luke, president, said in an inter- view.

Initial effects of this in- crease are not immediately apparent, but "June and July are traditionally the dull- est sales months of the year, and it may be that inventory building by kraft paper cus- tomers before the price rise will make the months abnor- mally dull." He forecast "very good" earnings in the fourth quarter.

For the first six months ended May 1 net was $6,011,000, or $1.13 a share, up from $5,475,000, or $1.02 a share, in the first half last year and sales were up 7 per cent to $120,536,000 from $112,714,000.

Strongest gains in the second quarter were in white paper sales, where profit margins are higher, he said.

Envelope Firm Luke said West Virginia's acquisition of controlling in- terest in United States Enve- lope company fills a gap in the company's program of vertical integration that en- ables it to take a product from wood pulp to final con- sumer. West Virginia does not manufacture envelopes, but it produces paper for them and its research department has developed several improve- ments that will be applied at U.S. Envelope, he said.

Luke said his company is not actively considering any other acquisitions now. No immediate plans have been made to merge with U.S. Envelope, Luke said, although it is a possibility.

On the positive side of the price picture for paper mak- ers is the strength of the world pulp market. Luke said a strong world market pro- vides an important upward pressure on domestic paper prices because pulp is a free moving commodity, little hampered by tariff barriers.

Youngsters Love an Outing that will take them near the water. Many are content to sit and watch as the summer currents flow smoothly by, carrying imaginary "crafts" to unknown destinations. Children can learn many things from the out-of-doors and it is a pleasure that can give the parent much satisfaction at the end of the day.

County Maintained

Waupaca Has Parks, Waysides for Tourists

Waupaca - Two major lake, fed by the rushing waterfalls and five wayside areas, fed by the rushing waterfalls of the Pigeon. At the outlet maintained by Waupaca, water snakes and swirls county, offer fabulous facilities for vacation thrills.

At the present time, county crews have started work on the parks in preparation for the summer activity.

Each spring there is a tremendous cleanup job accomplished to get the areas in top notch condition. Tourists and vacationers have come to know the Waupaca park system as one of the top in the state.

Largest Park

The largest, and perhaps the most beautiful, is Keller lake and park located about three miles northeast of Big Falls of County Trunk G. It offers majestic scenes of untouched and uncluttered nature. Planted around the small trout-abundant lake are groupings of picnic tables and stone or metal wood and charcoal stoves.

The park was established in 1932 through a WPA project camp. Workers then dammed up the south branch of the Pigeon river to form Keller.

Nothing Commercial From the minute picnickers or campers enter the "U" shaped drive through Keller park, the absence of anything commercial and the presence of the towering pines and birch are felt.

This aspect of the noted county park makes it an ideal spot to hold a family picnic, away from the rush of the busier and more commercial areas.

The active picnicker or outdoorsman will find trails wandering through the 80-acre section holding spectacular scenes of rock formations, small gorges, and an abundance of wildlife, especially German Brown trout.

Being Developed Another county park being developed is located on the Chain O'Lakes along County Trunk Q, about two blocks east of the Indian Crossing, on the Pigeon river, and along Highway 10 about one mile southeast of Sheridan.

Trees Grow Without Soil

UW Scientists Tell Of Experiments in Use of Hydroponics

Rapid growth of tree seedlings has been achieved by use of hydroponics, say two University of Wisconsin soil scientists.

Hydroponics is so-called soilless culture in which plants are grown directly on nutrient solutions without the presence of soil.

Reporting "gratifying success" in a 15-year series of experiments with use of hydroponics in growing tree seedlings were Prof. S. A. Wilde and Research Assistant D. E. Spyridakis.

"In some instances, the stock raised in nutrient solutions attained within the brief period of four months a size fully comparable to 4-year-old transplants raised in nursery soils," the two scientists reported.

Offer Advantages

Hydroponics offer several advantages in production of nursery stock, the scientists continued.

First is the possibility that seedling size and shape can be closely controlled by regulation of the composition of the nutrient solution and period pruning of root systems. With proper handling, the problem of control of parasitic organisms and weeds is practically eliminated.

"In northern environments, the use of hydroponics permits a considerable extension of the growing season, and with artificial aeration of solutions, five to 10 times as many seedlings can be produced per unit area," Wilde and Spyridakis reported.

In mass production, tree seedlings are grown in metal tanks lined with plastic or asphalt. The seedlings are supported by metal mesh screens suspended just above the level of the nutrient solution.

Use Sun Visor to Avoid Afternoon Glare

Drivers who squint into the sun risk momentary blindness which may produce an accident. The Institute for Safer Living advises that the sun visor is an often neglected but essential part of your car. Using it is far safer and more satisfactory than squinting for shutting out early morning and late afternoon sun glare. Use it when needed to avoid glare blindness.

Everyone Talks About The Weather . . .
In the 1960 National Home we've DONE something about it!

The big, colorful new National Home gives you year 'round comfort . . . keeps you cooler in summer and warmer in winter because the entire exterior is of Viking aluminum. The amazing heat reflecting power of aluminum makes your new National Home more comfortable and saves you money on fuel bills. It's maintenance-free, too, and lastingly beautiful because it's finished with baked-on acrylic enamel. Add this to all the other outstanding new ideas and features in the National Home . . . like the exclusive "circulating" floor plan and the work-saving kitchen with dining space . . . and you will see why nearly 200,000 American families find it to be the answer to all their housing needs. For good news about good housing at low, low cost (No down Vets —$400 non-Vets) see the model homes now open at Glenview Park.
